Wow, this is great fun, look at that colour! It looks like a strawberry mivi and tastes a bit like one too. This has a full texture with red fruit and tangy orange peel notes. I can imagine drinking this with pretty much anything, especially at that price.

Henry Jeffreys, The Spectator, 24th June 2020

Spain is often overlooked for its robust rosados – baffling when you consider how delicious they are with a sumptuous seafood paella. Check out my wine of the week for a fiesta of fun from off the beaten track in Somontano, made by a couple of Brits on a wine-making mission. Paso-Primero is a name to watch out for.

Olly Smith, The Mail on Sunday, 7th June 2020

Richly colourful, this rocking rosé tastes like a raspberry that's been filled with watermelon juice. Brilliant value from off the beaten track in Somontano, northeastern Spain.

Enticingly deep-coloured, full-flavoured Spanish rosé from Somantano... Perfect for summer barbecues.
