Press Reviews	Muscadet is the most honest of whites: stony, with a marine salinity and a lingering air of the outdoors. The most common examples are cheap, but you won't be sorry to trade up to this complex example, especially if you cook a large bowl of mussels to go with it. Victoria Moore, The Telegraph, 9th September 2017 Here's a complex and taut wine with elegant, pure fruit. There's some creamy texture hidden among the mass of stony, linear lemon and grapefruit flavours. It's well worth the price. Jamie Goode, The Sunday Express, 13th August 2017 A fascinatingly intense, mineral nose and great finesse, with tension and salinity on the palate – you may think my comparison with Mosel Riesling is far-fetched, but stay with it. Harry Eyres, Country Life, 3rd July 2017
